

BettesMakes Weekly Newsletter February 29

This weeks FREEBIE is centered around isometrics. You can use these files in any of your projects. See the bottom of this newsletter for details. Plus check out the Pancake Day Sale - See below for details.

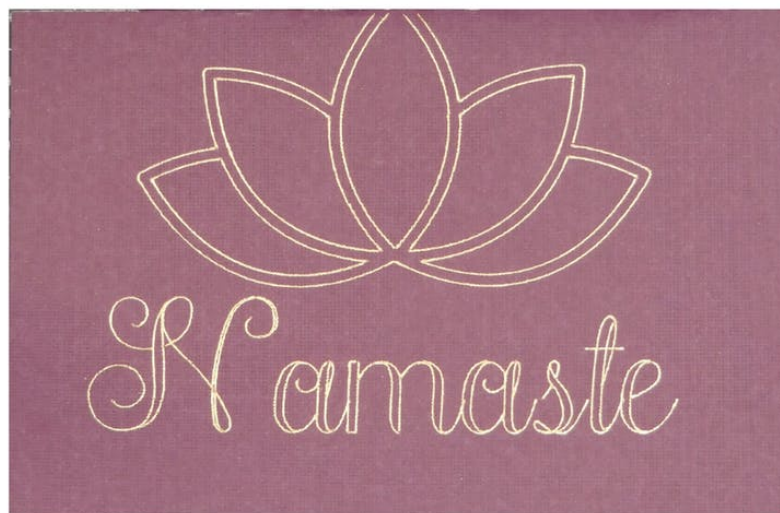

Did You Try This One Out? Craft World Site

Did you know that the owners of Craft Stash have started a crafting social media place where you can join and connect with other crafters? It is really new and not a huge number of crafters so far, but I am sure that it will change quickly. It might be something you will truly enjoy. You can never have enough places to interact with other craft minded people. Everyone should try this one out. Here is the link to get started <https://craftworld.com/>

This Week's Blog Article - Foil Quilling

This week I combined new knowledge with a video and blog article. I had received my Foil Quill equipment and supplies (the one you can plug and use with your Cricut or other cutting machine) and had yet to find time to experiment with it. Since we had a few rainy days lately, I took the time to learn about my new purchase and start making a few cards with it.

The blog article will take you through the entire process, while the video takes you through how to set everything up for your Cricut machine. The results are super as you can see. If you don't have one yet, here is a link to the one I purchased at Amazon.

BTW - if you missed any of these newsletters, the archives are in the resource library - at the end of the list of files.

My Color Palette For This Week

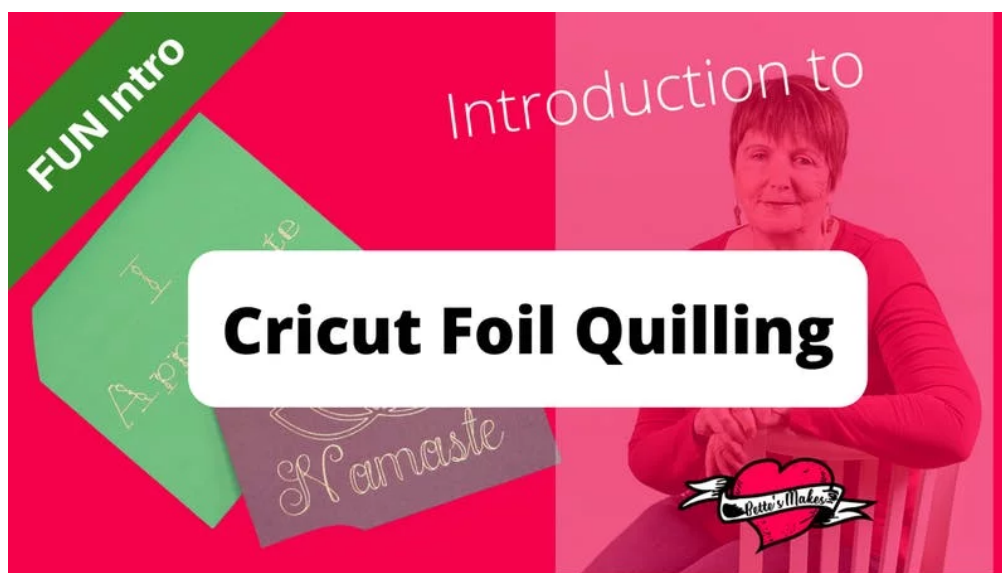

Roses! I received 2 dozen long-stem red roses this past week and fell in love with the colors. I have been watching them bloom right before my eyes! These rose are so delicate with a faint aroma that seeps through the air. They are absolutely exquisite! I hope you enjoy this palette.

Video of the Week - Foil Quilling on the Cricut

I am always nervous about adding other parts to my Cricut machine because it could void the warranty. In this case, I used my older backup machine to do this project. They were no issues whatsoever and the results were astounding! I wrote a blog articles about the process to go along with this short video.

Pancake Day Sale Until March 3!

I am sure you will fall in love with Craft Stash deals as much as I did. Click the image below and check out some of their deals.

Did you know you can get special fonts for any occasion?

Are you wondering about how many fonts are too many fonts? To me it is like having patterned sheets of paper - you can never have too many. Each project cries for it's own special touch. I like a lot of free fonts, just as you do, but, I also like owning a few for those special makes. Check out Fontbundles and get in on their sales and specials - I use these for my projects!

If you don't already have enough images from my resource library - you might want to take a look at some additional free resources! I never turn down a free file! You never know when you will want to use it!
