

Happy Mother's Day to all the mother's in my community! I hope you are all safe & healthy. Today I decided to place a heart a banner on my window in support of all those front line workers who are working to keep us healthy and fed. Go to the bottom of this email to get access to this design.

Getting Out and Getting Exercise!

As countries start to come back to life, we have to be extra cautious about our physical distancing so we do not find ourselves being exposed to the current pandemic virus. Having said that, it is also extremely important that we get outside and be active. In our household, we are taking walks along the gorgeous Stanley Park Seawall. Taking photos, and making sure we are acknowledging others. It is sometimes a nod, or a wave.

To me, we are all in this together and although we are physically distancing, we do not need to be socially distant.

I have been lucky in having friends from all over the world and we are now actually communicating more than ever through Zoom. My marathon runners groups meets once a week, just to chat. My Rotary club meets every couple of weeks and discusses how we can help make the world a better place. We even have chats with others over coffee - we are in one part of our yard and they are in theirs. Sure makes for interesting times!

Paper feathers are very easy to make! They have so many uses! You can use them to a dream catcher you make, or make them out of faux leather (and small) for a pair of earrings. You can also get creative and make a necklace as well. If you love card making, then these feathers can add a 3 D dimension to your card. The possibilities are endless. Have fun with this one! BTW it is a perfect craft for kids as well.
