

BettesMakes Weekly Newsletter August 1st

Each week, you will receive my newsletter which has a project or two you can make plus a FREE downloadable you will not find in the resource library. This week I have SVGs for Family Fun! The theme is camping!

Back to School is Around the Corner!

The month of August is when school generally reopens at the end of the month or the beginning of September. This year may look a little different in how education is delivered, however, it is still time to go back to school. I will be spending more time with my family and enjoying the warm weather. It will be tough to cram everything into just a few short weeks.

I am not planning on any camping this year but my daughter and her children will be heading out for a week! They asked me about making some camping decals they could use on their bags and even maybe one for their van. That is when I decided I would share these designs with you as our freebie this week.

This Week's Blog Article - Simple Layered Iron-On

I have been asked a lot of questions lately about iron-on. Many of you have expressed their nervousness about getting started with iron-on. Let along layering! I decided to create a simple project that will get any beginner started! This is a simple BEE Kind layered iron-on project that is so adorable, you will want to wear it! Most of you have probably downloaded the free svg already from last weeks newsletter - and now there is a post and video to go with it!

BTW - if you missed any of these newsletters, the archives are in the resource library - at the end of the list of files.

My Color Palette For This Week - Carnations

Week 30 - My carnations are in full bloom. There were so many colors to choose from, however, I found that these pinks really drew me in. It reminded me of a song that had the words "pink carnation".

The FREE Font of the Week

FRUITZ - This one looks like so much fun to use!

Video of the Week - Heat Transfer Iron-On (Different from regular iron-on)

Using heat transfer vinyl or patterned (and solid color) iron-on materials is completely different from using heat transfer! The materials are different and there is no need to mirror (at least most of the time). This is a piece I put together last year when I made all my aprons and visors. It will certainly add to you skill set on using iron-on!

I hope you have come to this spot in the newsletter.

It looks like the course will be a go!! The pre-launch announcement is scheduled for August 18th.

I am still not sure about the name Bootcamp and would like to change it to something a little more soothing. Any ideas for a new name? The name right now is Cricut Design Space Bootcamp. I decided to keep the name because it is an intense training you will fall in love with.

If you have anything special you would like to see in the course please email bette@bettesmakes.com and we will be sure to review your request.

Be on the lookout in our Facebook group for more details.

Last Note: A heads up that there will be a Holiday Maker Fest in November. I will give you plenty of notice for this one and will be able to get some free tickets.

Have an incredible weekend and week!
